B.C. too late for LNG dream?

Liquefied natural gas.
New report says B.C. is falling behind in race to get infrastructure online

MATT KIELTYKA
matt.kieltyka@metronews.ca

There is a scenario in which Premier Christy Clark's lofty promise of a debt-free province and billion-dollar Prosperity Fund exists, off the back of a trillion-dollar liquefied natural gas (LNG) industry.

It's just nowhere to be found in a new report from the University of Calgary's School of Public Policy that concludes the province is lagging behind in the race to cash in on Asia's demand.

"I would say right now that that's not very realistic," said economist Michael Moore, director of the school's energy and environment program. "You have to have multiple ports under construction and shipping in a relatively short amount of time, and those time commitments have slipped quite a bit in forecasting."

When the province first announced its LNG plans, it anticipated having the first processing plant on the West Coast operational by 2015.

To date, there have been 13 parties vying to do business in the province, but none have reached a final investment decision.

"Those are private-sector decisions, so it's impossible for me to a put a definite date on it, but I hope that maybe one or two will be able to make their final investment decisions in 2014," Clark told Metro in December. "That's what I ran on."

However, the province has yet to finalize its LNG tax regime, leaving companies and investors uncertain. Clark has promised to announce the tax regime by Nov. 30.

That doesn't bode well, according to the report.

It says B.C. risks missing out on lucrative contracts if the LNG industry isn't up and running by 2018 to 2024.

"To imagine that that market is infinitely large and infinitely growing, and that it will take on all comers, is simply a mistake," said Moore. "There are a lot of countries and companies lined up to provide adequate supply to meet that demand."

"Time's a wasting," agreed Dave Hackett, one of the authors of the report and president of Stillwater Associates, a U.S. consulting firm for the petroleum industry.

"It probably takes four years from the final investment decision to get a plant up and running. So when we're talking about 2020 or 2022, it doesn't sound long from now. You want to have the first plant by 2015.... Holy cow, this is 2014."

Natural gas burns off in the background as Premier Christy Clark visits the Encana compressor site in Dawson Creek in April 2013. Clark has said she hopes one or two interested parties will make final investment decisions this year. JONATHAN HAYWARD/THE CANADIAN PRESS FILE

Tofino hotel ranked most expensive in North America

Got $3,000 to spare? Clayoquot Wilderness Resort caters to a 'small percentage of the one percent,' says its managing director

thandi.fletcher@metronews.ca

Got a few grand burning a hole in your pocket? It could cover rent for a few months, or you could just blow it all on one night's stay in a tent in Tofino.

The Clayoquot Wilderness Resort luxury tent camp has been ranked as the most expensive hotel in North America, and the eighth most expensive in the world, according to a recent survey from TravelMag.com.

Hotel managing director John Caton, who started the resort 14 years ago with wife Adele, said the title is an honour.

"The clientele that we're catering to is a small percentage of the one per cent of the world," he said. "We set out to do that and to get that recognition finally is great."

The hotel, which bills itself as the first resort to offer glamorous camping, also known as "glamping," in North America, charges an average nightly price of $3,681 for a couple during the summer high season.

With a minimum stay of three nights, Caton admitted a visit to his resort is a big-ticket item for most people. But the package comes with nightly five-course dinners prepared by top chefs, as well as seemingly endless list of activities that are included in the price, from heli-hiking to archery, horse riding, rock climbing and spa treatments.

"I can't even afford to go to my own resort but I didn't build it for me," he said. "I built it to be the resort that has the most outdoor recreation activities."

Most of the Clayoquot resort's guests are made up of families from North America and Europe, with only about two to three per cent of guests coming from Canada, he said.

A tent at the Clayoquot Wilderness Resort averages $3,681 a night during the summer months, with a minimum stay of three nights. COURTESY CLAYOQUOT WILDERNESS RESORT

The resort was also the venue for Ryan Reynolds and Scarlett Johansson's wedding in 2008, and was the subject of a skit video featured on the Stephen Colbert show.

Putting those prices into perspective, a night at the Pacific Rim National Park Reserve's Long Beach campground, just six kilometres away from the Clayoquot Wilderness Resort, costs $7.80 for entry into the national park and $23.50 for camping per night.

If the Clayoquot hotel's price tag seems a little steep, there's no need to fret.

Slightly cheaper and ranked 20th most expensive in the world is the Queen Charlotte Lodge, a luxury salmon fishing lodge nestled in B.C.'s Queen Charlotte Islands where guests pay just $2,308 per night.

CP police investigate suspicious fire near Oak Street Bridge

Firefighters battle a fire on the CP Rail trestle near the Oak Street Bridge. ANGELA FRIDAY/FOR METRO

Canadian Pacific Police are investigating the cause of a massive fire described as suspicious that engulfed a railway trestle near the Oak Street Bridge on Wednesday afternoon.

The spectacular blaze engulfed the Marpole Rail Bridge, a trestle bridge that crosses the Fraser River, sending thick black smoke billowing above South Vancouver after it was first reported just before 5 p.m.

Vancouver Fire Department Capt. Carol Messenger said more than 40 firefighters were needed to bring the blaze under control, as heavy winds and the creosote on the wooden bridge fed the massive flames.

Messenger described the blaze as suspicious.

CP Rail spokesman Ed Greenberg said CP police are working with the Vancouver Fire Department to investigate the cause of the fire.

"As part of the examination into this incident, potential witnesses are being interviewed, the crime scene continues to be examined and additional evidence is still being gathered," Greenberg said.

Meanwhile, engineering experts are inspecting the bridge structure to determine the extent of the damage, he said. Greenberg added the bridge is seldom used and there was no train in the area when the flames broke out.

Greenberg said CP investigators do not believe the fire is connected to an ongoing review of operational options for the Arbutus Corridor.

BCLC. Ex-B.C. lottery CEO in conflict of interest before quitting: Audit

When the former head of British Columbia's Lottery Corporation quit his job and was given a $125,000 severance package, he walked directly into an industry-connected position, yet maintained access to the Crown's information systems for 10 days.

The information was released in a government audit Thursday that concluded Michael Graydon was in a conflict of interest, but Finance Minister Mike de Jong said the probe found no evidence of confidential information being inappropriately used by Graydon or his new employer.

De Jong said he supports the report's recommendations to ensure tighter guidelines and procedures for departing top-level employees in government and the corporation.

Graydon left the corporation last February to become president of the newly formed PV Hospitality ULC.

That prompted Opposition New Democrat questions in the legislature about the timing of the move, especially since the company was affiliated with Paragon Gaming Inc., the developers of the casino project adjacent to BC Place.

Graydon's severance and final payout package of about $125,000 also raised questions, especially since he immediately walked into an industry-connected position.

The 10-page audit found Graydon was in a conflict of interest because he should have disclosed to the corporation's board of directors he was in employment talks with an affiliate of Paragon Gaming. It also said his prospective employment provided him with an economic interest. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gastown Grand Prix. Official clipped by car released from hospital

A race official clipped by the Lamborghini pace car at the end of the Global Relay Gastown Grand Prix has been released from hospital and is recovering at home.

Organizers of the popular cycling event say cycling commissaire Gloria Bordon is OK and has no broken bones after she was knocked to the ground after being hit by the car's side view mirror. Bordon was taken away by ambulance.

Video of the incident shows Bordon, a Cycling BC official, entering into the path of the Lamborghini moments before the riders crossed the finish line. The force of the collision knocked the side view mirror from the car, organizers said.

Organizers said they aren't sure why Bordon ran into the car's path at that moment, but will be looking into it to ensure it doesn't happen again.

Gitxsan serve eviction notices to Crown, CN

Buoyed by a landmark Supreme Court of Canada decision, hereditary chiefs of the Gitxsan First Nations have served eviction notice to CN Rail, logging companies and sport fishermen to leave their lands.

Chief negotiator Gwaans Bev Clifton Percival says these companies have until Aug. 4 to cease operations and leave 33,000 square kilometres of Gitxsan territory along the Skeena River in northwestern British Columbia. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Family struggles with stroller theft

East Van. Family with twins, one-year-old, deal with 'upsetting' loss

thandi.fletcher@metronews.ca

A Vancouver family awoke to a gruesome discovery outside their East Van townhouse recently when they discovered their children's Chariot stroller, which had been chained up underneath a common area, was gone.

"There was blood all on the ground and Band-Aids and a syringe," mom Louisa Chantler told Metro. "So somebody had really gone to town trying to get this chain off."

The alleged theft, which happened at the couple's home off Commercial Drive near Charles Street, unfolded in mid-May but Chantler and her husband, who have two-year-old twins Oliver and Callum and a one-year-old son Ronan, are still struggling without the stroller. Although they have a double stroller for the twins, Chantler said they used the Chariot, which they bought second-hand for $800, to transport all three young children together, and would attach it to a bike for weekend rides.

"It was pretty upsetting," she said. "We had actually saved up to be able to afford this."

The couple decided not to report the theft to police. After one of their bikes was previously stolen from a storage locker in the past, she said she didn't feel there was any point getting police involved.

They hadn't recorded the Chariot's serial number either, she said.

Shortly after the theft, Chantler said another family who lives in the same townhouse complex caught somebody in the process of stealing their stroller from their patio. Fortunately, the suspect ran off without the stroller, she said.

While the loss is tough for her to swallow, Chantler said she hopes whoever took the stroller has a serious need for it.

"We've seen people on the streets fill them up with cans and things like that, so presumably that's what ours is being used for here," she said.

Vancouver Police spokesman Brian Montague said he wasn't aware of an increase in the number of stroller thefts in East Vancouver, but he sympathized with the family's loss.

Montague encouraged people to record the serial numbers of strollers and to report thefts to police, even if they don't have that information.

Surrey taking stock with survey

Surrey residents are being asked to give their city a check-up.

SurreyCares, formerly the Surrey Foundation, has launched an online study called Vital Signs, asking residents to grade their community on crime, health, transportation, youth, education and poverty issues.

Results from the survey, which will be released in October, will be made available to non-profit agencies, donors, governments and the public to help guide policy and community resources.

"It is kind of like a community report card," said Jeff Hector, president of SurreyCares, in a statement. We want to know what really matters most. It is uncovering where we are today so that we can create the community we want to become."

The study is being conducted in partnership with Simon Fraser University's School of Public Policy.

The survey is available online until Aug. 7 at surreycares.org.

Vital Signs reports, an initiative by the Community Foundations of Canada, have become a valuable tool for municipalities of late. Abbotsford, Victoria and Vancouver were among the 25 Canadian cities that published Vital Signs reports in 2013.

Owner of Victoria's Munro's Books giving the business to store staff

After 50 years. Jim Munro happily passing the torch on, as well as all books, computers and furniture — just not the building itself

Jim Munro, owner of Munro's Books, inside his neo-classical building in Victoria on Wednesday. Jim is giving his bookstore to four long-standing employees when he retires in September, after being in business for more than 50 years. CHAD HIPOLITO/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

What do you do when you're 84 and own Canada's most beautiful bookstore? And one that is thriving — no mean feat these days.

Sell it? You could. Close it? You could do that too.

But if you're Jim Munro, who for 50 years has run Munro's Books in Victoria, you do something exceptional: You give the business to four of your staff.

Lawyers and accountants have told him he's nuts. Crazy generous.

Munro sees it differently. "Without them there, the business isn't worth anything. They are like an extended family."

Munro has three daughters with ex-wife Alice Munro, who last year won the Nobel Prize in Literature. "We all totally agree that the store should go to the staff, that we hold the building and that we want the Munro name to continue," he says.

Munro owns the granite-clad, neo-classical-style former bank on Government Street, in the heart of downtown Victoria. With its hanging flower baskets, heritage buildings, tea and tobacconist shops, the strip has a ye olde English atmosphere that tourists love. The bookstore is a short stroll from where cruise ships dock in Victoria's harbour.

"The building is emblematic of Jim's business," says David Kent, president and CEO of HarperCollins Canada. "It's solid and beautiful."

Because why not?

"I don't need it. I have my RRSPs and so on. Why not? I want them to prosper."

Jim Munro explaining why not only is he giving the Munro's Books business to his staff, he's also going to collect rent at below market rent, since he's keeping the building.

With an inventory of some 30,000 books, computers and all the fittings of a bookstore, Munro estimates the value of his gift around $1 million.

The building, with 6,000 square feet of retail space, marble floors and 24-foot coffered ceilings, is a destination in itself. The walls are hung with tapestries by Munro's textile artist wife, Carole Sabiston. Mystery writer P.D. James was so taken with them, she commissioned one for her house in England. Book lovers can find classics such as Tolstoy's The Death of Ivan Ilyich, obscure local histories, poetry and Stephen King's latest blockbuster.

Munro's staff consists of hard-core, literate readers who can always help a baffled customer who has forgotten the title or the author of a recommended book.

"People like to go to the store just for the experience of being in the store," says Howard White, publisher of Douglas & McIntyre. "It's like a shrine to books. He's the high priest.

"He believes in literature and culture and all the good things."

Munro will still collect rent, but at below market rate.

The four staffers who take over when Munro retires on Sept. 1 have decades of experience. At 45, Jessica Walker, who will hold the majority share, is the newbie. "I'm the kid. I've only been here 14 years."

Though the idea of passing the store on to staff had been discussed generally, Walker and the others felt "momentary shock" when Munro made the decision."

"But it certainly made sense," says Walker, the daughter of a book sales rep who as a child went on the road with her mother.

"The four people Jim selected already work really well with each other and our talents and responsibilities complement each other. It's a tremendous gift." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Insurers asked to stop seeking access to results of genetic tests

Privacy. Despite broad political consensus, there are currently no laws that prohibit genetic discrimination

Canada's privacy watchdog is urging insurance companies and others to stop asking for access to the results of existing genetic tests.

Privacy Commissioner Daniel Therrien says it is becoming more of a challenge to protect people's genetic privacy with recent advances in science and technology.

"We are calling on the industry to refrain from asking for existing test results to assess insurance risk until the industry can clearly show that these tests are necessary and effective in assessing risk," Therrien said in a statement Thursday.

There are now hundreds of tests to help spot genes known to increase a person's risk of certain medical conditions.

But some people may decline tests for fear a positive result may mean they could face discrimination from insurance companies or their employers.

There are currently no laws in Canada that specifically prohibit genetic discrimination, although there appears to be broad political consensus around the issue.

Quoted

"This would allow people to undergo genetic testing for various purposes without fear that the results may have a negative impact if they apply for insurance."

Privacy Commissioner Daniel Therrien, who is calling on insurance companies to stop asking for results of genetic tests

The most recent Conservative throne speech promised to stop employers and insurance companies from discriminating against Canadians on the basis of genetic testing.

Last year, the Liberal leader in the Senate introduced legislation that would stop insurance companies and others from discriminating against people who are genetically susceptible to some diseases.

Past Conservative and Liberal election platforms pledged to stop discriminatory life insurance practices, while the NDP once introduced a private member's bill in the House of Commons to ban "genetic characteristics" as grounds for discrimination under the Canadian Human Rights Act.

Bus Riiii-der. Winnipeg softens stance on musical performances on transit

Winnipeg city hall is changing its tune about passengers who feel like singing aboard public-transit buses.

The city had proposed a bylaw that would have called for a $100 fine for disruptive behaviour on buses, which included singing and other musical performances.

There was an immediate backlash by some residents who said there should be higher priorities for city hall.

The idea was also mocked on social media.

Some people questioned whether mimes would be tolerated.

Now, the city says it is amending the proposed rules to allow for singing that does not disturb other passengers or the driver.

Manitoba. Zoo's popular exhibit fully reopens after it had gone to the wolves

The full Journey to Churchill experience at the Assiniboine Park Zoo in Manitoba has reopened, after closing when wolves broke into the polar bear exhibit.

Just five days after opening the new $94.4-million exhibit, the zoo was forced to close the attraction's biggest draw — the waterfall at the Churchill Coast — and the wolf enclosure for two days of repairs.

"We have a fence that subdivides the one exhibit, we have wolves on one side and the two female polar bears on the other side," explained Assiniboine Park Conservancy COO Don Peterkin. "The wolves … found a spot where they could dig through that barrier and come up on the bear side.

"So they went for a visit."

Even death can't separate some from love of jazz

New York. Cemetery builds plots so jazz lovers can be buried near their favourite musicians

Some jazz fans are devoted to the very end.

At the Woodlawn Cemetery in the Bronx, so many jazz enthusiasts want to be buried near the graves of such greats as Miles Davis and Duke Ellington that the cemetery is developing new plots to meet the demand.

The cemetery is building about 2,275 new burial plots between the grave of Latin music star Celia Cruz and "Jazz Corner," the area where musicians Davis, Ellington, Lionel Hampton and Illinois Jacquet are buried.

"With the history of the Bronx and everybody that is planning ahead, we have a lot of requests to be close to Miles Davis and Celia Cruz," said cemetery executive director David Ison.

Pauline Smith, 74, bought a burial plot near Jazz Corner about three years ago. She is an avid jazz lover and throws regular parties where she hires jazz musicians to play at her home in New Rochelle.

"The music is in the earth and in the air and in the heavens," she said. "I love the idea that I could be continuing my love on the other side."

Earlier this year, the cemetery opened up 70 burial plots behind Davis' grave in Jazz Corner, separate from the new development, and almost all of them have already been sold.

The complex also includes a mausoleum finished in February with space for about 275 sets of remains and a starting price of $6,000 per plot. Four smaller buildings planned for the site do not have an estimated completion date.

The 400-acre cemetery, at about half the size of Central Park, is also the final resting place of such notables as journalist Joseph Pulitzer, women's rights pioneer Elizabeth Cady Stanton and composer Irving Berlin. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There have been a number of troublesome incidents involving costumed figures who try to make a living by charming tourists. They include a person dressed as Super Mario who was accused of groping a woman.

Ninth lawmaker held in probe of far-right party

Golden Dawn. Greek authorities began cracking down on party after fatal stabbing of a leftist musician last year

Greek judges have jailed Ilias Kassidiaris of the Golden Dawn party, seen in this May 23 photo taken at an election rally — the ninth lawmaker held in connection with a criminal investigation into the Nazi-inspired extreme right party. PETROS GIANNAKOURIS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

Greek judges on Thursday jailed a ninth lawmaker in connection with a criminal investigation into the Nazi-inspired Golden Dawn — the third most popular party.

Ilias Kassidiaris, a prominent Golden Dawn lawmaker, faces illegal firearms charges that, if proved in court, carry a maximum 20-year prison sentence. About 100 party supporters shouted slogans as police led Kassidiaris from a court to Athens' maximum-security Korydallos Prison.

Half the 18 lawmakers elected with Golden Dawn in 2012 have now been jailed pending trial for allegedly running a criminal organization, including leader Nikos Michaloliakos. All claim they are being persecuted as the conservative-led government fears the party's growing popularity among right-wing voters.

Police found two shotguns in Kassidiaris' house near Athens in a search last year, and claim he illegally modified them and planned to supply them for use in criminal acts by Golden Dawn members. He already faces charges of running a criminal organization.

Kassidiaris rejected the charges as "a joke," arguing Thursday that the guns carry legal documentation. His lawyer alleged judges had been pressured to jail Kassidiaris.

"How could any intelligent human being believe that a criminal organization could be supplied with registered weapons?" Nikos Antoniadis told reporters. "(My client) was set free after facing the main charges (of running a criminal organization) and is now being jailed for two … registered weapons."

Greece. Surgeon arrested for allegedly demanding bribe for urgent heart op

Greek authorities have arrested a heart surgeon in a major Athens hospital on charges of bribery and blackmail for allegedly demanding money in order to perform urgent surgery, police said Thursday.

The 59-year-old doctor, who was not named, was arrested in Athens on Wednesday following an investigation triggered by a complaint from a patient who suffered a heart attack. According to the complaint, the surgeon initially demanded 1,500 euros (about $2,175) to perform bypass surgery, allegedly threatening to release the patient if the money was not paid. The amount was eventually reduced to 500 euros.

Police said a relative of the patient met with the doctor and handed him 500 euros in marked bills, after which plain-clothes police officers waiting nearby arrested the surgeon.

Apart from the marked bills, doctors said they also confiscated another 355 euros found in the doctor's possession, as well as handwritten notes containing the names of other doctors at the hospital and monetary amounts.

Bailed-out Greece raises cash in bonds auction

Greece has raised 1.5 billion euros (about $2.17 billion) in an auction of three-year bonds, its second debt issue in three months after a long absence from the international markets.

Greece was frozen out of bond markets in 2010 and was saved from bankruptcy by an international bailout.

Gunman demanded to know estranged wife's whereabouts

Texas. Man dressed as FedEx driver barged into home, killing 4 children, parents

A gunman dressed as a delivery man forced his way into his sister-in-law's suburban Houston home where he held her children at gunpoint until their parents arrived. Then he opened fire, killing four of the children and the two adults, law enforcement officials said Thursday.

Ronald Lee Haskell, 33, has been charged with multiple counts of capital murder in the killings Wednesday evening, the Harris County Sheriff's Office said in a statement. He is also accused of critically wounding a 15-year-old girl in the shooting rampage.

When he arrived at the door, Haskell demanded to know where he could find his estranged wife, the statement said. After the children's parents, Katie, 33, and Stephen Stay, 39, arrived home, Haskell opened fire on the family. The children killed were two boys ages four and 14, plus two girls ages seven and nine, Harris County Sheriff's Deputy Thomas Gilliland said.

Five family members were dead when police arrived. Two were transported by helicopter to a Houston hospital, where one died and the other remains in critical condition, the statement said.

Documents introduced during a preliminary court hearing Thursday show the 15-year-old girl attempted to close the door to the home after telling Haskell her parents weren't home, according to a report by KPRC-TV in Houston. But he kicked in the door.

Background

- Haskell was the estranged husband of Katie Stay's sister, according to Harris County Precinct 4 Constable Ron Hickman.
- Neighbour Verena Beckstrand, 42, said Katie Stay went to Utah last fall to help her sister escape her relationship with Haskell and make a fresh start in Texas.

India

Costly statue causes uproar

In a country grappling with poverty, sluggish growth and a daunting deficit, India's new budget has set aside $33 million US for a colossal iron-and-bronze statue almost twice the size of the Statue of Liberty.

The plans in Thursday's budget for a 182-metre-tall replica of Indian independence leader Vallabhbhai Patel caused an outcry, with many people saying the country has far more urgent priorities.

"How can they waste money on a statue like that?" asked Rohtash, a vegetable vendor in the Indian capital who goes by one name. "The government could have used that money to reduce the price of rice. That would have been some help for poor people like us."

It was the first budget of a new government elected on promises to revive stalled economic growth.

Israel escalates Gaza offensive; Jerusalem, Tel Aviv under fire

Danger. Both sides dig in their heels; Israel escalates air assaults and Gaza militants continue rocket fire; 85 dead this week

Israel dramatically escalated its aerial assault targeting hundreds of Hamas sites in the Gaza Strip Thursday as Palestinians reported the strikes also hit a home and a beachside cafe, raising the total number of people killed in this week's offensive to at least 85. Israel's missile defence system also once again intercepted rockets fired by Gaza militants at the country's two largest cities, Jerusalem and Tel Aviv.

The Israeli military said it had struck a total of some 500 targets throughout the day, focusing on underground tunnel networks and rocket launching sites. In all, the military said it has hit some 860 sites since the operation started Tuesday.

Gaza militants fired more than 140 rockets at major Israeli residential areas Thursday, Israel's military said. Rockets fired at southern Israel damaged homes, infrastructure and spread panic. Israelis rushed to bomb shelters as sirens wailed in major cities. About five million Israelis are in range of the Palestinian rocket attacks. No Israelis have been killed.

A rocket hit a car in the southern Israeli city of Ashdod Thursday night engulfing it in flames. Israel's emergency services said nobody was injured in the attack, reversing an earlier statement in which it said a man was hurt.

Israel has mobilized 20,000 reservists for a possible ground operation into Gaza, but for the time being remains focused on maximizing its air campaign. Neither side is showing any sign of halting their heaviest fighting since 2012. Israel says that Hamas must cease rocket fire from Gaza for Israel to consider a truce.

Group calls for a ban on two chemicals

Great Lakes. Canadian Environmental Law Association urges ban on triclosan and triclocarban, which are in everything from soap to clothing

Canada should ban two antibacterial chemicals used in many consumer products that are accumulating in the waters of the Great Lakes, a report issued Thursday said.

The report, from the Canadian Environmental Law Association, also suggested Canada, the United States and all provinces and states bordering the Great Lakes should prohibit use of the chemicals and assess proposed alternatives before they are used.

The two products are triclosan and triclocarban, which are used alone and together in products such as toothpaste, body washes, bar soap and clothing. THE CANADIAN PRESS

APPROVAL NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT WITH THE PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA

TO: Former Residents of the Nova Scotia Home for Colored Children

RE: Nova Scotia Home for Colored Children - Settlement Agreement Approved by Court in the matter of Elwin et al. v. Nova Scotia Home for Colored Children et al. – Hfx. No 343536

What is this notice?
A law suit against the Province of Nova Scotia has been conditionally settled regarding allegations of abuse suffered by former residents of the Nova Scotia Home for Colored Children (the Home). If you lived at the Home at any point between January 1, 1921 and December 31, 1989, you may be a member of the Class. Your legal rights may be affected by this settlement.

What are the terms of the settlement?
The Province of Nova Scotia will pay $29,000,000.00. This settlement will be added to a fund of $5,000,000.00, paid by the Home in a prior settlement. The combined amount of $34,000,000.00 will be distributed in accordance with a distribution plan. The settlement amount and the plan for distributing the fund has been approved by the Court and found to be fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the former residents. You can read the full settlement agreement online at: www.wagners.co, www.nshccsettlement.com, www.voicesociety.ca, and www.at-home-site.org.

How do I make a claim?
If you lived at the Home at any point between January 1, 1921 and December 31, 1989 and wish to make a claim under this settlement, you may do so by sending in a claim form. A Claim Form is currently available at www.nshccsettlement.com, www.wagners.co, or can be requested by calling toll-free 1-800-801-2521. If you intend to submit a claim you must do so on or before February 27, 2015. More information is posted on www.nshccsettlement.com and www.wagners.co.

What if I do not want to take part?
If you are a former resident who doesn't want to be legally bound by this Settlement, you may opt-out. To do this you must complete an Opt Out Form and send it to Wagners Law Firm by August 18, 2014. The Opt Out Form is available at www.nshccsettlement.com and www.wagners.co. Anyone who opts out will not be eligible to claim benefits under the Settlement Agreement.

Will I have to pay anything?
No. Class Counsel will ask the court to approve legal fees, disbursements and taxes, payable out of the settlement fund. Any such fees have to be approved by the court as fair and reasonable.

How can I get more information?
For more information, contact Class Counsel (Wagners Law Firm at 1-800-465-8794), or the Claims Administrator (Bruneau Group at 1-800-801-2521).

This summary notice has been approved by the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia.

THE METRO LIST

Mike Benhaim
metronews.ca

1 No bull. Great time of year for sports fans. Tennis, soccer and the greatest game of all: The annual running of the bulls in Pamplona, Spain. What could be better than eating a big breakfast, donning your finest whites with red scarf, and joining the world's craziest as they run down a narrow, cobbled, 850-metre corridor after someone unleashes a herd of bulls? In addition to the many injuries sustained every year, several people have actually been gored … to death. Ah, but for the ones who live, what a rush!

2 Bread basket. The NBA is in full free agency mode with several massive contracts waiting to be signed. Chris Bosh has been offered almost $90 million by the Rockets, the Knicks have a $129-million cheque on the table for Carmelo Anthony, and heaven only knows what will be thrown at LeBron James. So, the toughest decision really belongs to the league: A handful of players, or a medium-sized European country? Yeah, you know I'm right, but you also know they're going with the players.

3 Plane pizza. Severe weather forced a Denver-bound Frontier Airlines flight into an unscheduled landing that grounded them in Wyoming for two hours. As passengers grew restless, Captain Gerhard Brandner called Domino's and footed the bill for 40 pizzas to be delivered right to the plane. That was all it took to make him a hero as the morale of the entire plane turned around. Except, of course, for those seated near the lactose-intolerant. Bravo, anyway.

4 Miss-guidance. Air New Zealand attempted to entice passengers to oft-disregarded safety instructions by producing an in-flight video featuring bikini-clad models. Some patrons found the campaign distasteful, and it was dropped after thousands signed an online petition. And it wasn't just women complaining. Many of the men agreed that after watching it a few times, it really did seem wrong.

5 For the dogs. The owner of Paws Natural Pet Emporium is on a 30-day diet consisting exclusively of pet food. She hopes to promote ingredient awareness, showing that what she sells is healthier than the food many Americans consume. Furthermore, she endorses an active lifestyle of running around in circles, and for hygiene, advocates licking yourself twice daily.

6 Bey for effort. The University of Victoria is offering a course that should elevate students culturally and artistically through its primary theme: Beyoncé. The class will be taught by Melissa Avdeeff, who has previously lectured on Justin Bieber and A Tribe Called Red, so you can expect some profound educational returns on those student bursaries. But it won't be an easy A, or at least I hope not, because I can already hear parents singing, "If you liked it then you shoulda got an A on it. Uh-oh, Uh-uh-oh."

7 Cool sunnings. To anyone looking for a spontaneous musical getaway, join me next week in Montego Bay for the 22nd Reggae Sumfest. Four nights of incomparable entertainment and sun-filled days on some of the nicest beaches in the world. This year, in addition to Reggae faves Popcaan, Sean Paul and dancehall legend Bounty Killa, Sumfest features Jason Derulo, Wiz Khalifa and this year's winner of The Voice, hometown champion, Tessanne Chin. A sendoff fit for the king of Cambodia

Cambodia on Thursday began a three-day elaborate ceremony to transfer the ashes of the late King Father Norodom Sihanouk from the Royal Palace to a stupa in the opulent Silver Pagoda.

On the first day, people provided offerings of food to Buddhist monks in front of the Royal Palace in the morning; in the evening, about 3,000 Buddhist monks gathered in front of the Royal Palace to chant prayers.

King Norodom Sihamoni and his mother, former Queen Norodom Monineath, as well as Prime Minister Hun Sen and his cabinet members, observed the prayer rite inside the Royal Palace. According to the schedule, on the second day, the ashes will be marched along roads near the Royal Palace, and on the third day, they will be interred in a stupa in the Silver Pagoda in the compound of the Royal Palace.

About 20,000 people were expected to attend the 10-kilometre march of the late king's remains on Friday. The government allowed all civil servants and private company employees to take a day off on Friday in order to pay homage and to join the parade of moving the late King's remains. SHANGHAIDAILY.COM

Final wishes

King Father Norodom Sihanouk died at the age of 90 in Beijing on Oct. 15, 2012.

- The late king requested that all of his ashes be interred in the Silver Pagoda alongside the remains of his beloved daughter, Princess Kantha Bopha, who died of leukemia in 1952 at the age of four.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Dawn of the Planet of the Apes opens this weekend. CONTRIBUTED

Dawn of the Planet of the Apes. Sci-fi simian movie swings between wild action and thought provoking drama

Richard: Mark, to riff off of the old Superman tag line, "You will believe an ape can speak." The special effects are amazing, but beyond the pixel manipulation that brings Caesar and company to vivid life, there are remarkable performances that, for lack of a better phrase, humanize the apes. These aren't the erudite apes of the Roddy McDowell era, with vocabularies that would impress even Conrad Black, but simian characters that behave somewhere midway between pure instinct and higher intelligence. I went bananas for the apes. You?

Mark: The apes may have limited vocabularies but they're a lot more interesting than the humans in the picture. This is a very sophisticated blockbuster that deals with our queasy relationship to the animal world and also acts as a metaphor for our need for civilized diplomacy. The post-apocalyptic world of a verdant but decaying San Francisco is visually plausible, and there are plot points worthy of a Greek tragedy. But enough about that. The apes are rad, man!

RC: It sure is a different kind of blockbuster. It has all the elements of the usual summer fare — it's a sequel, things blow up and, if that wasn't enough, also features an ape — but it takes risks. About half of it is done in ape sign language (with subtitles) and it's not chock-a-block with action. Instead it takes time building characters and motivations so when the wild ape-on-human action begins it feels earned and it feels epic.

MB: Ape-on-human? What about the fabulous ape-on-ape action? When these apes go at each other, it's feral and primitive. WWE, take note! And the ape sign language forces them to act with their eyes, which reminded me of the power of old silent films. I didn't need a bunch of clunky dialogue to know what these gorillas were thinking.

RC: I agree. I think this is the kind of performance that could convince the Academy to consider "motion capture" acting for inclusion in the Oscar acting categories.

Beyond the performances though, is a thought-provoking movie about race, gun usage and xenophobia. It's masked in allegory and, well, a story about talking apes, but it touches on those hot button topics in an interesting way.

MB: What is missing from the movie is James Franco, who brought some lightness and offhand charm to the last Apes movie. The apes are so strong in these films that the movie needs some star charisma to balance it out. Nevertheless, we've come a long way away from Bedtime for Bonzo.

Synopsis

Set 10 years after Rise of the Planet of the Apes saw Caesar (Andy Serkis) break free from a San Francisco primate sanctuary and start an ape uprising, the middle-aged chimpanzee is the leader of a large population of genetically evolved apes. Most of humankind was wiped out by a pandemic of ALZ-113—a "simian flu" virus that speeds up the rebuilding of brain cells in apes but is deadly to humans — but when a small band of humans scout a water source near the ape camp a monkey wrench is thrown into the fragile peace between homo sapiens and simians.

Drama

Begin Again

Director. John Carney

Stars. Keira Knightley, Mark Ruffalo, Adam Levine

Begin Again is a soul-stirring comedy about what happens when lost souls meet and make beautiful music together. Gretta (Keira Knightley) and her long-time boyfriend Dave (Adam Levine) are college sweethearts and songwriting partners who decamp for New York when he lands a deal with a major label. But the trappings of his new-found fame soon tempt Dave to stray...

Drama

Third Person

Director. Paul Haggis

Stars. Mila Kunis, Olivia Wilde

Third Person tells three stories of love, passion, trust and betrayal, in a multi-strand storyline reminiscent of Paul Haggis's earlier Oscar-winning film Crash. The tales play out in New York, Paris and Rome: three couples who appear to have be unrelated but share deep commonalities: lovers and estranged spouses, children lost and found.

Life Itself

Director. Steve James

Stars. Roger Ebert

Acclaimed director Steve James (Hoop Dreams) and executive producers Martin Scorsese (The Departed) and Steven Zaillian (Moneyball) present Life Itself, a documentary film that recounts the inspiring and entertaining life of world-renowned film critic and social commentator Roger Ebert — a story that is by turns personal, funny, painful, and transcendent. It's based on his bestselling memoir of the same name.

Tammy

Director. Ben Falcone

Stars. Melissa McCarthy, Susan Sarandon

Tammy (Melissa McCarthy) is having a bad day. She's totaled her clunker car, gotten fired from her thankless job at a greasy burger joint and, instead of finding comfort at home, finds her husband getting comfortable with the neighbour in her own house. It's time to take her boom box and book it. The bad news is she's broke and without wheels. The worse news is her grandma, Pearl (Susan Sarandon), is her only option — with a car and cash.

Lobster rolls with a tarragon mayo twist

RICARDO COOKS
Chef Ricardo
Ricardo Magazine

When I'm making lobster, I always make more than enough to go around. Let's be honest: what's better than leftover lobster for lunch?

And although any seafood dish makes me happy, I have a soft spot for lobster rolls (with a bag of chips on the side).

They remind me of my first vacation on the East Coast with my wife.

Remoulade

1. In a bowl, combine all the ingredients.

2. Season with salt and pepper.

3. Refrigerate for at least 30 minutes.

Note

- For a more classic remoulade, substitute the tarragon with flat-leaf parsley.
- And to serve as a salad, divide the remoulade on your choice of lettuce and garnish with pieces of lobster.

Lobster Rolls

1. Fill the hot dog buns with remoulade and lobster pieces.

Total preparation time:
20 minutes

Total cooking time:
30 minutes

Ingredients

Remoulade
- 3 cups (750 ml) celery root, peeled and cut into thin julienne
- 1/2 cup (125 ml) mayonnaise
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) lemon juice
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) chopped fresh tarragon
- 1 tsp (5 ml) capers, drained and finely chopped
- 1 tsp (5 ml) Dijon mustard
- 1/2 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 1/4 tsp (1 ml) Tabasco sauce, or to taste
- Salt and pepper

Lobster Rolls
- 4 hot dog buns, toasted
- Meat of 2 cooked lobsters, cooled and cut into chunks

Summer cocktails

Ungava gin a sunny tonic

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

Though vodka may be king of the white spirits, modern mixologists have grown bored with its taste profile or, actually, its lack of one. Just look to the shelves. They're populated with vodkas flavoured with everything from root beer to, I kid you not, birthday cake.

That's paved the way for the return of gin. Considered very old school (it was invented back in the mid-17th century), gin's combination of juniper berries and botanicals gives it personality plus, which makes it perfect over ice or as the base of classic, straightforward pitcher-worthy drinks like gin and tonic and the martini.

While England may be famous for its production, artisan gin makers the world over are turning heads and tantalizing taste buds. Named for the Ungava Peninsula in northern Quebec, Ungava Canadian Premium Gin ($34.90 – $37.99) is a robust botanical stew that includes the likes of Nordic juniper, cloudberry and Labrador tea.

It's an aromatic powerhouse with a unique yellow hue that will add a little Quebecois sunshine to your summertime cocktails.

FUSE

July 11, Vancouer Art Gallery

Don't miss the first FUSE event at the Vancouver Art Gallery this summer. This adults-only, after hours event melds art, music and live performances together perfectly. The VAG is transformed for a fun night loaded with DJs, eclectic gallery tours, outdoor lounge, bar service and more. Fake Plastic, this summer's edition of FUSE, is all about pop culture in the 21st century and features a free outdoor performance on Robson Street in addition to the in-house party. Purchase tickets and learn more at vanartgallery.bc.ca.

Khatsahlano Block Party

July 12, Kitsilano

The West 4th Avenue Khatsahlano Street Party is Vancouver's largest free music and arts festival. Last year saw nearly 120,000 people in attendance. This amazing neighbourhood festival features eight stages for live music, stretches across 10 city blocks and offers up plenty of variety. Aside from the numerous local restaurants and patios, visit one of more than 40 food trucks, listen to 50 different local bands and check out hundreds of local vendors and merchants. khatsahlano.com.

Wiener Dog Races

July 12 & 13
Hastings Racecourse

Back for another hilariously fun day of track-side festivities, Schneiders presents the Annual Wiener Dog Races at Hastings Racecourse this weekend and it is not to be missed. Have a dachshund? Enter them — or borrow someone else's for the day. With more than $2500 in prizing up for grabs, it's serious business for the winning wiener. First race starts at 1:50 p.m. and all the details can be found here: hastingsracecourse.com.

Eat Local

Various locations

Score plenty of locally made and grown goods at one of Vancouver's farmers markets this weekend throughout the city. Having just reopened, be sure to visit the Main Street Farmers Market and check out the ongoing Berry Festival (for the month of July). Don't miss the West End, Kitsilano and Trout Lake farmers markets too. See what's on at all of our local markets at eatlocal.org.

SUNWAVE

July 12

This weekend marks the first of a series of beach-front celebrations as part of Vancouver's pop-up outdoor electronic events dubbed SUNWAVE. It's a waterfront musical showcase featuring a stacked line-up of international and Canadian artists and is located five minutes from Wreck Beach at Koerner's Secret Garden. Recharge with organic drinks, grab a bite from their BBQ, and nab a cold one at their bar while there. Find more info here: sunwavebc.com.

Food Cart Fest

July 13, 215 W. 1st Ave.

Food Cart Fest is back for another summer full of food-fuelled fun in the heart of False Creek's Olympic Village. On from 12 p.m.-5 p.m. every Sunday throughout the summer, this festival gathers over 20 of Vancouver's top food carts presented by Arrival and The Streetfood Vancouver Society. It's a full afternoon of food, fun, and sun complemented by community markets, live music and DJs, craft food vendors, live entertainment activities and more. Find all the details at foodcartfest.com.

Caps' Laba pulling for La Albiceleste

World Cup. Vancouver's midfielder predicts his home country Argentina will win final

cam.tucker@metronews.ca

When it comes to the World Cup, there are certain things Matias Laba isn't going to change, not when his beloved Argentina squad is off to the final against Germany.

Take, for instance, the company he will watch Sunday's final with. He watched the semifinal — a technical and defensive battle between his Argentina and the Netherlands that ended with nerve-rattling penalty kicks — in his home with his girlfriend, and Vancouver Whitecaps teammate Sebastian Fernandez and his wife.

Sounds like a plan for the championship match, too. Superstition; it's a powerful phenomenon when the stakes are this high.

"The same for good luck," said Laba, the Whitecaps' midfielder and young designated player, on Thursday.

Laba's first language is Spanish. The tension that has built up throughout the World Cup, and including Wednesday's Dutch-Argentina semifinal, seems to transcend any language barrier.

Anxious moments run across the globe, particularly when it gets to penalties — a 1-on-1 battle between shooter and goalie that is arguably the most palpable drama in the sporting world.

Laba was no different.

"I feel nervous before the game. When the start of the game, I concentrate on Argentina. In penalties, I feel my stomach ache, everything," he said.

The Whitecaps host Chivas USA, winners of three straight, in MLS regular-season play on Saturday at BC Place Stadium.

The Vancouver side has one win since coming back off the World Cup break, but also has two clean sheets in its last three games.

This upcoming game is big for both clubs in the Western Conference standings.

The Whitecaps hold the fifth and final playoff spot in the West, with a 6-3-7 record and 25 points. After three consecutive 1-0 victories and a draw against the L.A. Galaxy, Chivas USA has moved to within five points of Vancouver.

Laba, who has been a critical component in Vancouver's midfield this season, said that even with such a big game for his country the next day, his concentration won't falter from the task Saturday.

"My focus is Chivas, and after Chivas, my focus is Argentina and Germany," he said.

UFC

Bagautinov tests positive for EPO

Ali Bagautinov of the UFC has been banned one year from competing in British Columbia, after testing positive for a banned substance in Vancouver, the B.C. athletic commissioner announced in a statement Thursday.

Bagautinov underwent two different drug tests, including one on June 14, the day of UFC 174 in Vancouver, and an out-of-competition test on June 2.

"Results received by this office from the June 2 tests on Mr. Bagautinov were positive for erythropoietin, or EPO — a substance banned by the World Anti-Doping Agency," said the B.C. athletic commissioner in a statement.

"These results were not available prior to the UFC 174 event due to lab processing times."

The Russian lost his fight in five rounds to flyweight champion Demetrious Johnson in the main event of the pay-per-view event at Rogers Arena last month.

As a result of the tests, the B.C. athletic commissioner has suspended Bagautinov's licence to compete in B.C. for one year, according to the statement. "There were eight UFC 174 competitors tested on June 14, 2014, for the presence of banned substances, including the two flyweight title fighters and six random competitors," according to the statement.

"All competitors' test results complied with World Anti-Doping Agency Standards subscribed to by the B.C. athletic commissioner, as well as our anti-doping policies." CAM TUCKER/METRO

Raps solidify hard-nosed nucleus

There is a trait Masai Ujiri seeks out more than any other in the players he covets for the Raptors, something far more important to him than dribbling or shooting, passing or defence.

He will open the vault to find those who possess it, he will take risks because he sees it dormant in some players, ready to be developed over time.

It is impossible to define but it's led him to make subtle changes and key additions to a 2014-15 roster now almost fully formed.

"I don't like guys who cut corners or try to go the easy route," the president and general manager said Thursday while officially announcing the return of point guard Kyle Lowry and a couple of other additions to the team.

Quoted

"I wanted to be in a place I could win and grow." Kyle Lowry

"These guys work hard ... and you know what?"

"I don't pay players, I don't pay stats, I try to pay winners. And that's what you want to do. It's not like they've done it for many years but it's a great start for us."

Ujiri's work is all but done with Thursday's official announcements that Lowry is back on a four-year, $48-million deal, joined by backup point guard Greivis Vasquez and one-time Raptor James Johnson at small forward.

There may be room for one more transaction but the majority of the work is done.

Lowry said he had an offer from the Houston Rockets, accompanied by phone calls from Dwight Howard and Chandler Parsons, and he had contact with the Miami Heat during the free-agent negotiation process. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Horoscopes by Sally Brompton

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
You seem to be torn between going all out to achieve your ambitions and giving up on them altogether. Put off making a decision until after the full moon starts to wane.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Try to avoid people whose attitude might bring you down. If they want to be miserable that's fine but you don't have to join them.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
Something you have feared will make an unwelcome appearance but it's actually good news because this time you will have to deal with it. You're more courageous than you think you are.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
You need to take a more even-handed approach to partnership matters. The most important thing to learn: No, you really can't do it all on your own.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
What happens today will remind you that sometimes the old way of doing things is best.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
If you take too negative a view of other people's motives today you could miss out on something worth having. Take a few risks.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
You may be tempted to say something negative to a friend today. Even if what you say is true, you not only won't receive any thanks but you could cause a long-term split.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Sometimes even a Scorpio has to sit back and wait for things to happen. Rest your mind and your body today because you are going to need every bit of your energy tomorrow.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
It's not the right time to speak up. If you say too much today and over the weekend you may have to unsay it again in the very near future.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Your energy may take a bit of a dip but you are still on red hot form. Limit yourself to what is truly important. Nothing matters more than your No. 1 aim.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
The more someone criticizes you the more determined you will be to carry on with what you are doing.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
There is no point worrying about things over which you have no control. The good news is that even if you lose out you will still win in some way.
